

VIRGINIA WELCOMES

CAROLINA'S GOVERNOR

Salute of Seventeen Guns Fired by Howitzers as Party Enters Capitol Square.

RECEPTION AT JEFFERSON

Secretary of Navy Daniels, Governor Craig and Other Prominent North Carolinians Guests of Governor at Dinner at Commonwealth Club.

The result of yesterday's football game, however disappointing to the North Carolinians, cast no gloom over the elaborate program of entertainments given in honor of the visitors. Receptions, luncheons, a theatre party and a ball were the main social functions at which Governor Locke Craig, members of his staff and other North Carolinians were entertained by Governor Henry Stuart, Virginia officials and Richmond North Carolinians.

The official party of visitors was officially welcomed upon its arrival yesterday morning at Main Street Station by Virginia officials, and the firing of salutes by the Richmond Howitzers welcoming the Tarheels to Richmond marked the arrival of the executive party. Besides the official reception committee, hundreds of North Carolinians and Virginians were at the station when the special trains from the South arrived.

The party including the executives of the two States with other officials proceeded from the station to the Jefferson Hotel, where quarters had been established for the visitors.

PAY OFFICIAL VISIT

TO GOVERNOR OF VIRGINIA

During the morning the visiting executive and his staff paid an official visit to the Governor of Virginia at his temporary residence, 921 West Franklin Street, and after lunch, Governor Stuart was served for the official parties at the Commonwealth Club. From the club the Governors and other officials went to Broad Street Park.

The informal reception arranged by Richmond North Carolinians and held at the Jefferson Hotel just after the game yesterday afternoon was a unique event. Thousands of people attended and shook hands with the Governors and other officials. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy; Edward K. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina; Judge R. W. Winston and other officials attended the function. After the reception Governor Stuart entertained the official party at the Commonwealth Club. The officials were then entertained at a theatre party at the Academy of Music by the Richmond North Carolinians, and the concluding event of the social program was the ball at the Jefferson Hotel.

Governor Craig, with other visiting Tarheels, left for North Carolina late last night, while Governor Stuart and Secretary Daniels were obliged to leave Richmond for Washington during the earlier part of the evening.

EAST END ASSOCIATION TO DISCUSS FRANCHISE

Will Give Pending Application of Power Company First Public Hearing.

The East End Citizens' Association will hold a meeting at 8:15 o'clock to-night to discuss matters affecting the Eastern section of the city, and, in particular, the pending application of the Virginia Railway and Power Company for a new blanket franchise to supplant the several distinct grants under which it now operates its street railway and light and power transmission lines in this city.

While the franchise application has already been the subject of considerable discussion by sundry smaller bodies, it will come to-night for the first time as the topic before a general meeting of citizens. The trackage changes proposed in the suggested new franchise ordinance materially affect the transportation arrangements on Church Hill, and the meeting will give citizens an opportunity to express their views.

The meeting will be held in the club house, in Chamberlayne Park at 8:15 o'clock. While intended primarily for East Enders, citizens from any other part of the city, who are interested in the matter under discussion, will be welcomed.

Coat Collar Covered. Ashamed to Go in Company, Cuticura Soap and Ointment Completely Healed.

P. O. Box 3, Wanego, W. Va.—"I was troubled with dandruff, falling hair and itching scalp for two or three years. It was so bad at times my coat-collar would be covered so I was ashamed to go in company. It itched so my head was irritated and pimples would come on my scalp. My hair came out badly; it became thin and dry, so dry that it seemed as though there was no life in it.

"Remedies failed to do me any good. About a year ago I saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. After the first treatment I discovered I was getting better. I purchased some Cuticura Soap and Ointment and continued using them until I was completely cured." (Signed) Geo. W. King, Jan. 1, 1914.

ASKS AID OF CITIZENS TO STOP DUST NUISANCE

Careless Practices of Public, Says Cohn, Keep Streets Littered Up.

ASH COLLECTING A PROBLEM

Approximately Half of Street Cleaning Force Required to Clean City of Ashes and Trash—Garbage Collected From 28,241 Buildings.

Carelessness on the part of citizens themselves, as well as the vast extent of territory which his limited forces are expected to care for, according to Superintendent Henry J. Cohn, of the Street Cleaning Department, are factors which contribute to the dust nuisance and the littered condition of many streets in the city.

In a review of the street cleaning upon many careless practices the avoidance of which, he said, would greatly assist his department in keeping Richmond clean. Stores that use the streets as public dumping grounds, house servants who shake rugs from front and back door windows, contractors whose broken carts scatter silt and building material far and wide over the city, pedestrians who litter the sidewalks and transfer points with peanut hulls and newspapers—these and other things named by Mr. Cohn as sinners against the spotless town ideal.

The Administrative Board has referred to Mr. Cohn for report a plan for dividing the street cleaning force into four squads each to be assigned to quarter sections of the city. Mr. Cohn has the plan under advisement and will file his report with respect to it on Monday.

CITY OF RICHMOND HAS 200 MILES OF STREETS

"In the city of Richmond there are about 200 miles of streets, of which about sixty-two miles are paved," said Mr. Cohn yesterday. "These streets are cared for by a force of thirty-five regular men, and part of the ash collectors, when they can be spared from their ash routes."

"We had, in the old city up to November 1, 1914, 28,241 buildings from which to make collections. From the 28,241 buildings where collections are made once each week, 1,468,532 calls will have been made during the year. The collection of ashes and trash is made by eighteen gangs, showing that 6,821 calls are made by each gang per month. It takes ninety-two men, or practically half of the city force, to clean the city of ashes and trash."

"Fifty per cent of the receptacles used for ashes and trash are mere sieves, and about one-half of them fail to pieces when they are dumped by the collectors, causing a delay sufficient to interrupt the route for the day. Four days or more are taken up each week in making the above collections. Our city is growing steadily, and each day sees some new work for us. Each new house means a place from which to make collections of ashes, trash and garbage, and each block of trash paved means additional sweeping to keep same clean."

ONE MAN HAS TO MAKE 400 CALLS EACH DAY

"The collection of garbage is different from the collection of ashes and trash, where the driver of the cart is also the collector. In three instances we are working large double-horse wagons in this work. These wagons are in charge of a driver and helper. Sixteen carts are used in the collection of garbage, with one man in charge trying to see that proper collections are made at all times. With garbage being collected nearly twice each week from the same 28,241 buildings, shows that one man has on an average of 400 calls to make each day."

"The department is much annoyed by storekeepers and careless pedestrians who make a public dumping ground of the streets of the city. The streets are regarded by these people as a receptacle for store sweepings, packing materials of all kinds, waste paper and fruit parings, to say nothing of the trades waste which is left to be taken care of by the department. "Leaky and broken carts are used by contractors, with the result that many of our important thoroughfares are constantly littered with sand, broken bricks and clay, notwithstanding that all of this is prohibited by law."

LITTER STREETS WITH LETTERS AND CIRCULARS

Often people stand on the street and tear letters and circulars into bits and cast them broadcast over a street which has just been swept. This evil should be stopped by the Police Department, a gentle reminder by a policeman would go far towards stopping the same. The vexatious problem of street cleaning is of vital concern.

"Broad Street is swept on Saturday nights between the hours of 1:30 and 12:30 o'clock, and on Sunday as early as 7:30 A. M. this same thoroughfare is covered with trash. All of this trash comes from the establishments which are closed, and much of it comes from the places that never close. "It is manifestly impracticable, as well as beyond the financial capacity of any community, to have the street cleaners always at hand to receive the rubbish swept off of the sidewalks or thrown into the streets, and we are safe in saying that hardly 1 per cent of the citizens sprinkle the sidewalks before sweeping, thereby helping to keep up the dust nuisance."

SANDING OF STREETS MAKES DUST NUISANCE

"Another thing which helps to create the dust nuisance, and which to my mind could be avoided, is the sanding of newly paved smooth streets after having been grouted with cement. However, we will not attempt to criticize the spreading of this sand, but merely mention it as one of the direct causes of dusty streets. "The entrance to the city must be improved before the dust nuisance can be abated. Manhattan Island is almost the only place where there is very little dust, as it is surrounded by water. It is entirely different in this city. With any kind of wind the dust and dirt is blown into the city for miles around."

"It is to be hoped that the citizens will not be so selfish in the future. Lend a hand towards keeping the streets of our city clean, and not be forced to do so by law what they should do of their own volition. "We are now caring for 75,600 square yards of paved streets with nine patrolmen with broom and bag carrier, with scraper and scoop attached. These streets are thoroughly cleaned, and except for the litter, look well at all times. This work is done so well and completely that it has given entire satisfaction to the general community."

Disorderly in Theatre.

B. S. Smith, stopping at the Lexington Hotel, was last night arrested in the Bijou Theatre by Police Officer Napier on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He is said to have interfered with a performance. The case will be heard in the Police Court to-day.
